Performance Bullets

Performance bullets are the raw material that is needed to produce the statement of actions for which the individual is being cited.

Effective Performance Bullets Always Consists of 3 Parts.

- ♣ What they did
- ♣ How they did it
- ♣ The Impact or results of their action (Why it was significant)

What do I Write About

Pick 3 to 5 items that the member did best or which had the greatest impact on the service or unit. Each bullet should have a number-quantified (if possible) action and a following result. For example, “...100 hours of troubleshooting refrigeration casualty assistance; enhanced quality of life and enabled the cutter to keep operational schedules,” has the action and the result.

So for each item, be specific and ask yourself “What was done?”, “How did they do it?”, and “What was the Result?”

Once you’ve completed this part of the award, the rest is simply wordsmithing.

Hints For Using Statistics

Using numbers to quantify actions is encouraged and carries more oomph! For example, “Seaman Garza volunteered many hours of personal time to invent a beacon which save the Coast Guard a lot of money...” Doesn’t tell the story as well as, SEAMAN Garza inested 100 hours of personal time to invent the Aids to Navigation Beacon which saved the Coast Guard $175,000.00.”

Remember not to criticize an individual’s predecessor. Also focus on items that are high profile or extend beyond a member’s command.

Jargon And Content

The citation is an account “...which will be cherished by them and a source of pride to their families”. The Rewards and Recognition Handbook says “...we are telling a story to everyone about what the person receiving the award has done.

For the citation, refer to the proper award manual to find the opening and closing jargon for each award and copy that part exactly. The information is found in:

Jargon And Content

- ☐ COMDTINST M1650.25 for military personnel
- ☐ COMDTINST M12451.1 for civilian personnel
- ☐ COMDTINST M16790.1 for auxiliarist personnel

The Rewards and Recognition Handbook (COMDTINST P1650.27) has heaps of ideas to.

The statement is written in a single paragraph and sandwiched between the standard opening and closing sentences.

Wording and the “Guts”

A citation is supposed to be formalized, concise and straightforward. Formalized means that it is written in the third person (“...he created...”), often using the rank and surname (“... Chief Petty Officer Jones created...”).

Here are recommendations for choosing some words and phrases:

Wording and the “Guts”

After the standard opening, each bullet should start with an action word like these:

- ☐ Displaying
- ☐ Exhibiting
- ☐ Demonstrating
- ☐ Showing
- ☐ Using
- ☐ Making
- ☐ Through

Wording and the “Guts”

The next words should be an adjective-noun combination something like these:

- ☐ Superior leadership, he...
- ☐ Exceptional competence and professionalism, she...
- ☐ Expert technical skills, he...
- ☐ Highest degree of proficiency, she...
- ☐ Accomplished organizational abilities, she...
- ☐ Finely honed
- ☐ Keen insight

Wording and the “Guts”

Adverbs work well for the next word(s) such as:

☐ Quickly

☐ Capably

☐ Professionally

☐ Skillfully

☐ Proficiently

☐ Adeptly

☐ Effectively

☐ Efficiently

Wording and the “Guts”

Steer away from using specific jargon or acronyms or name of equipment that are not commonly used in the English language. A good rule is to use simple, everyday words that convey powerful thoughts.

Also avoid being gushy or using “puffed up” words that seem phony or pompous.

Wording and the “Guts”

Now, simply mix and match the words and phrases to ensure each bullet is a flowing sentence or two. Start with the accomplishment you consider to be the most significant. The body of the citation is simply 3 to 5 bullets turned into powerful, concise sentences, one after another.

Voila!!! You've completed the citation.

Well Almost

Wording and the “Guts”

Before you turn it in, take the citation, stand up in front of a mirror, another person, or a microphone connected to a tape recorder and READ what you have written -- OUT LOUD! This is the most effective way to check grammar and see if what you have written really is concise, flowing, and powerful.

Formats

There are two type of formats for an award citation, and they are:

☐ Citation Format

☐ Letter Format

Formats

Citation Format

Citations are printed sideways (landscape), across standard 8 1/2 X 11 paper. The margins are 1 inch for the top and sides and 2.3 inches on the bottom. (this leave room for the gold seal) We recommend using 12 point Helvetica style font. Citations consist of 5 lines of heading and the body consisting of the standard opening sentence, action/impact items, and the standard closing sentence (all discussed earlier). We recommend that the body be between 15 and 19 lines long, justified. Be a relentless editor and choose your words carefully.

Formats

The heading should look like this:

CITATION TO ACCOMPANY THE AWARD OF
THE (type of medal goes here)
TO
(spelled out rank and full name goes here)
UNITED STATES COAST GUARD

The heading is always centered on the page and capitalized

Formats

The Commandant's Letter of Commendation is a typical LETTER FORMAT award. It is printed on the Commandant's letter stationary. They are always from the "Commandant" to the individual. The subject is "LETTER OF COMMENDATION," and they always have 3 paragraphs.

Formats

They are printed on 8 1/2 X 11 Stationary lengthwise (portrait style). In keeping with the Correspondence Manual, they are printed using 12 point Courier font. The Meritorious Team Award is also done in letter format with different standard phrases. Be sure to refer to the Medals and Awards Manual for proper wording and Phrasing.

Both the letter of Commendation and Meritorious Team Award are closed with the phrase:

“For the Commandant”

Coast Guard Commandant's Letter of Commendation
